

The Bells of Eternity

William Orcutt Cushing, 1902

William James Kirkpatrick

$\text{♩} = 100$

1. The day is de - part - ing, its hours are past; The sha - dows are fall - ing, are
2. The sha - dows are creep - ing o'er vale and hill; The dews on the mount - ains are
3. The song of the reap - ers is far a - way; No long - er they toil in the fall - ing fast; The sheaves are at rest on the har - vest plain; The reap - ers have ga - thered the soft and still; I know that the day - light, with wealth un - told, Is fad - ing a - way on the har - vest day; The mo - ments, now wait - ing, will soon be o'er; The day will be gone, and for - gold - en grain, The reap - ers have ga - thered the gold - en grain. Be rea - dy, my soul, for the

Refrain

- hills of gold, Is fad - ing a - way on the hills of gold. ev - er - more, The day will be gone, and for - ev - er - more.

Lord is near; The sound of His com - ing is al - most here; Be rea - dy, for list! they are call - ing thee! The bells, the bells of e - ter - ni - ty; The bells, the bells of e - ter - ni - ty.