

Who Will Send or Go?

Mary Bridges Canedy Slade, 1867

George Frederick Root

♩=85

1. I wan - dered just at ev - en, Be - side the sound - ing sea; The
2. The north wind told its sto - ry, With one swift an - gry blast, Of
3. The south wind said, "I'm tell - ing Of po - lar south - ern night; When
4. The even - ing winds passed o'er me, The an - gry north - ern blast, Awhis - pering winds of Hea - ven Their sto - ry told to me; The In - dian off - erings go - ry, It saw, in rush - ing past; Where an - gry surg - es swell - ing, The dark - ened souls a - fright; I

- cross the sea be - fore me, Went has - ting, far and fast; The east wind said, "I'm has - ting From tro - pic Gan - ges' wave; Where child - ren they were cast - ing With - far off north - ern na - tions In for - ests dark and deep, With fear - ful in - can - ta - tions Their saw no off - ering burn - ing; No in - cense filled the air; No souls to God were turn - ing; No ze - phys ceased their wail - ing, And in my heart, I heard, This prom - ise, ne - ver fail - ing, "The

Refrain

- in a wat - ery grave."
hea - then vi - gils keep.
gods they wor - ship there!" A soft wind whis - pered, "Who will send or go, To teach the hea - then earth shall know the Lord!"

Je - sus' love to know?"